

THE ETHICAL LENS · ASK BEFORE ADOPTION

The Three Questions.

Before any AI or technology tool enters your practice, walk through these three questions.

If you cannot say yes to all three, the tool is not ready for your practice today.

i.Does this honor the commitments I have already made to my client?

Consent, confidentiality, transparency, professional judgment. The promises were made when the relationship began. The tool needs to fit those promises as they stand.

ii.Can I explain how this tool handles their information, clearly, in my own words?

Where the data goes. Who can see it. How long it is kept. What it gets used for. If you would have to read a vendor page to answer the client's question, you are not ready to answer it.

iii.Would my client feel comfortable if they saw exactly how their data was being used?

Picture the client in the room while you set the tool up. If anything about the setup would make them lean forward or ask a follow-up, surface that with them before adoption.
